Terminal Pordenone

The Terminal Pordenone is located in one of the major economic areas of Europe, about 90 km from the port of Venice and 120 km from the port of Trieste.

The strategic position at the junction between the Adriatic-Baltic and Mediterranean Rail Freight Corridors enables connections to north and south-east Europe, to Russia, CIS countries and the Far East as well as to numerous domestic destinations in Italy. The terminal is designed for the future with 800 m long sidings according to the corridor parameter of 740 m trains.

The terminal is located inside the Interporto of Pordenone which offers a great variety of logistic services. The facility can be directly reached from the motorway, allowing road vehicles to easily access trains and to quickly continue the journey to their final destination.
